

April 8th, 2006 STEEL PLATE SHOOT

We had a great turnout for the first steel plate shoot of the year. There were twenty shooters who showed up to knock the rust off of their guns, and get their skills back up to snuff. Actually, I was surprised on how well some of you did. You guys were turning in some pretty good scores for the first match of the year. Jon Scott looked like he hasn't missed a beat over the winter. Great shooting, Jon. Some people were doing really good until their gun jammed, or they ran out of magazines (hey Minh, make sure you bug your old man to buy you two extra mags. I'll bet you'll kick his butt next time). I only had to yell at a few people about trigger finger position, but that's normal. Otherwise, it was a very safe match. I had a fun time running it, and I hope you folks had a fun time shooting it.

I want to thank Rick Heyt and Kevin Morrison for helping me put on this match. Without them, it couldn't have gone on. Our next match is May 13th. So bring a friend and show him or her how much fun you can have with a gun. If you have any questions you can contact me at pl8shootr@aol.com.

See you next month.
