

To whom it may concern,

Greetings from Kandahar, Afghanistan! I am assigned to the Brigade Support Medical Company, 25th Brigade Support Battalion, 1st of the 25th Stryker Brigade Combat Team from Fort Wainwright, Alaska.

Our Battalion Aid Station operates an amazing program, the Wolf Case Management Program (WCMP). WCMP houses and rehabilitates wounded or ill Soldiers back to health so that they are fully mission capable and can go back to the fight. The majority of these Soldiers are medically evacuated and are taken so quickly that they are not able to grab any personal belongings. Most of them show up with only the clothes on their backs.

These Heroes suffer more than just physical wounds. In a time of healing, it is extremely difficult to be away from not only your family, but your army family as well. Unfortunately, we are basically building this program from scratch and need the supplies necessary to give comfort to these Soldiers.

Due to the busy and dangerous Afghanistan summers, we are expecting an exponential increase in patients. We have contacted several programs and are expecting the packages to arrive in a short amount of time. Unfortunately, our supplies deplete very quickly.

We are requesting supplies such as personal hygiene items, running shoes, loofa's, puzzle books, portable DVD players, DVD's, books, underwear, pajama/sweat pants, white crew cut socks, t-shirts, towels, snacks, individual powder drink mixes, handheld games, etc.

Please consider donating to our program. It's just a little price to pay for brave Heroes who protect our families and country.
